INCREASE IN PRICES

Condition Results from a Larger Gold Production.

STARTED ALMOST DECADE AGO

mental Similarity in Movements in This Country and England-Effect and play with dogs, but will let itself be of Tariff System and Trusts, IST2 to 1897 all practistics, English, German, and American, had shown a steady downward movernwit, by which the general level of prices was reduced not less than 30 or 35 per cent. But just as the bimetallists had conclusively proved that prices never could or would rise so long as the gold standard was maintained, the New York Evening Post points out, the tide suddenly turned, and the index numbers have risen pretty steadily even a months old, their wild trained to make the capitol of the United States do not find their way into print. The average the Capitol of the United States do not find their way into print. The average is redolent with the seductive oder of find their way into print. The average is redolent with the seductive oder of find their way into print. The average is redolent with the seductive oder of find their way into print. The average is redolent with the subtraction to banish liquor from the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Congress enacts, and the Supreme Court interprets, the highest law of the land, but if he were told, for instance, that in the subterranean depths of the Capitol of the United States do not find their way into print. The average is redolent with the capitol is true. Time after time, Congress, smartling under criticism, has enacted legislating the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Congress enacts, and the Supreme Court interprets, the highest law of the land, but if he were told, for instance, that in the subterranean depths of the Capitol of the United States do not find their way into print. The average is redolent with the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Congress enacts, and the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Congress enacts, and the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Capitol is a large building of roble is redolent with the Capitol is true. The way is a state of the Capitol is a large building of roble architecture, where Capitol is a large buildin lists had conclusively proved that prices never could or would rise so long as the gold standard was maintained, the New York Evening Post points out, the tide suddenly turned, and the index numbers have risen pretty steadily ever since.

In England, the tables compiled annually by Mr. Sauerbeck show the following ally by Mr. Sauerbeck show the following.

ally by Mr. Sauerbeck show the followin movement for the decade 1896 to 1905;

Unique The unique of the control which is all possible the Question make are all the control with the control with the control which is all the co essay the role of seer. But it is beyond dispute that there is no immediate pros-pect of any slackening in the output of gold, and it seems probable, therefore, that prices will advance to even highe

An outbreak of war might give the gold production a temporary setback, such as it received in South Africa in 1899, and industrial disturbance may for a time give prices a downward tendency, as actually happened in 1961. But in the long run geo logical conditions and improved processes of ore reduction point to a continuance of the present large output of the yellow metal. How long this will continue we re-spectfully decline to predict. Yet as we read reports from the various gold fields we feel that, like the strip of land on which Lewis Carroll proposed to prove experimentally that parallel lines never production will be "ever so long."

TAMES YOUNG WOLVES

His Dogs.

Swiss Trains Them to Play with stence of wolves tame in the second generation is not on record, says the London

M. Mosch, a Swiss gentleman, living at Tenfer, has, however, succeeded, or thinks he has succeeded, in solving the Bimetallists Had Just Proved That problem by the simple process of getting Prices Never Could Rise-Funda- hold of a cub scarcely three months old and in bringing it up as a pet until it will not only follow him about the streets most familiarly caressed. Repeat this

QUEEN ALEXANDRA'S MAIDS

He wants a hammock swung from limb to limb, And at his side, when Father Sol grows dim, To keep his eyes unstrained, he calleth for A pecket Edison Electric Glim.

And on the bough, beneath which he doth plan to lie and take whatever ease he can, To keep tum cool and shoo the flies away, He has a brazen-winged dynamic fan.

When these are set, his idle fancy road Not through one volume of some maiden's pom But all The World's Best Letters he demand. Put forth in forty-leven quarto temes.

As for the Jug and single loaf of bread, 'Pon which our simple Omar one time for that I draw the veil. Omar to-Appears to have a better appetite-and head. And finally, as for that item "Then" That Omar whiled for, sitting 'neath the bough, Let it remain. In these days 't is the same. For "thou" 'a a synonym for "thousands" now.

CAPITOL OF NATION

cated? The question is one on which there is no conclusive evidence. Perhaps the most that can be said is that the ex-Buildings of the World.

QUEER ARCHITECTURAL FACTS

is a miniature industrial village, he would desire for a less stately life has prompted her to reduce the number to four.

Queen Alexandra delights to aurround herself with quite young, bright, and clever people, and all four maids are still in their early youth.

The tradition is that these young women invariably marry well.

Wood—piain, ordinary wood—is stored by the hundreds of cords in other rooms of the Capitol. The wood is kept dry and of the vandal cannot touch it.

In the executive management of the form dicine and for a time devoted himself to the latter, pursuing his studies in parts of the building. It is a very content of the parts of the building of the vandal cannot touch it.

In the meantime he had given up law for a time devoted him for medicine and for a time devoted him for medicine.

Unquietness in the home, the tyranny of social ergagemen

Capitol, and to show suspicious characters out of the building. It is against the rules for a stranger to carry a pundle into the Capitol. On occasions of great public moment, such as the inaug-uration of a President or Vice President, when the leading officials of the nation are gathering in the Senate chamb casion might result in a tragedy that would shock the world. Fortunately, in America there is very little likelihood of such an occurrence, but the precautions taken are none the less thorough. These precautions are always observed to the fullest limit on the opening day of Con-

The uninitiated might naturally suppose that the Capitol would be a favorite har-vesting ground for book agents, vendors socials, and other kindred entertalaments. The State officials of the various Commonwealths are afforded no sort of protec-tion against this sort of folk, but let one tion against this sort of tolk, but let one of them undertake to ply his avocation in the Capitol of the United States and he is nipped in a nurry. Even if the vendor happens to be a beautiful woman, the is taken in custody by an officer, piloted out of the building, and warned not to return. The quarantine against beggars and book agents is never relaxed and detectives in plain clothes are charged with the enforcement of this regulation.

Building Covers Six and One-sixth Acres, and Cost Over Thirteen Millions—Owns Its Own Repair Shops—How Peddlers Are Barred, but Liquor Always Gets By.

Many odd and interesting facts about the Capitol of the United States do not is redolent with the seductive oder of est law of the land, but if he were told, for instance, that in the subterranean depths of the Capitol, far beneath faw-makers and Supreme Court judges, there has a Supreme Court judges, there has a Supreme Court judges, there has a skillfully chosen, is a miniature industrial village, he would tents of the dome are 2,648,650 cubic feet. be very much astonished, and yet there There are 9,000,000 pounds of iron in the fession because for entrance into that

Has Four of Them, All Young and Pretty.

Has Four of Them, All Young and Prett

The tradition is that these young wonplants of the legislation of the building. It is a very some make the problem of the pr

Tall Narcissus, pink-eyed, sweet, Flirts with bird and bee; Wonders if this April child Is as vain as he. Jonquits, Heart'sease, Columbine Bloom in every dell; Sweetest yet, the Hyacinth-Love-tones in each bell.

Laughing with the sunshine, then Weeping with the rain, Dancing over hill and dale With your clin train.

Last of all, the Snowdrop, white, Comes with drooping head. And with tender thoughts of heaven. -M. H. BOWEN.

LAST FENIAN IS DEAD

in Dublin Town.

Dia Not Believe that Emancipation mentary Methods-Studied Law in great numbers in a region early devoid of Youth, but fince it I'm for Media Youth, but Gave It Un for Medicine-Story by an Eyewitness, bo, of the Fenian leaders, writes P.

Bradley, from Dublin to the Pittsburg Dispatch. And notwithstanding a storm of wind and rain, the Nationalists of Dublin in solemn cortege marched four deep behind the bier of their dead pa-abandoned his studies for the legal pr are carpenter shops, machine shops, up-holstering shops, tin shops, paint shops, and other kindred establishments that employ scores of skilled artisans. While the solons in the chambers above are expounding the Constitution, the work.

a delegation to present an address of greeting and sympathy to President Kru-ger on his arrival in the French capital, and in 1995 he went on the great Irish pligrimage to the battlefield of Fontenoy. Single-minded, incorruptible, a scorner of flattery, faithful to his word-such was this man whom English law declared traitor and the Irish people a patriot.

Not Enough Room, From the Bohemian.

A man who was doing his best to een vince the world at large, and himself in particular, that he was perfectly sob tried to purchase a theater seat and was told that there was only standing room. He bought an admission ticket and made another one of the crowd standing up in the back watching the show. After a few minutes he returned to the window and gravely handed over another dollar: "Firmme 'nother standing ticket," he said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly. "It want more root to see it and the said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly. "It want more root to see it and the said thickly." It want more root to see it and the said thickly "It want more root to see it and the said thickly "It want more root to see it and the said thickly "It want more root to see it and the said the sai thickly, "I want more room to see,"

TWO STRANGE TREES.

Mojava Yucca a Vegetable Freak. The Creoping Oak of Monterey. California has one tree which is the per John O'Leary Passes Away sonification of mystery, Found nowhere else in the world, it had a mysterious origin and thrives in a region of mystery, says the P. E. Magazine. The Mojava yucca is a vegetable freak which has developed into a species. It PRECEPTOR OF NATIONALISTS has the characteristics of several plants, to which no relationship can be traced. It is an endogen, yet its bark shows cor Did Not Believe that Emancipation centric rings such as characterize the Could Be Accomplished by Parlia- exogenous stems. It lives and thrives in > Another tree in California which has a peculiar personality is the creeping oak of Monterey.

A few days ago was borne to the Nowhere in the vegetable kingdom can grave "the last of the '48 men," the last, be found so true a representative of mon- Brunetiere, as we have already noted, is too, of the Fenian leaders, writes P. opoly. This is of gnarly growth, its offered for sale, says the New York Even-of ground, and it is still advancing.

For instance, there's the large girthed man Who takes two scats when on a car, Who travels on the all hig plan. And never stands where ladies are; Can he be changed so he will be The beau ideal of courtes?

And can you raise—ob, dream divine—An Easter fidless type of girl—A beand-new output freeinine—That will not care for trill or curl? And through thy magic shall we see A gentler sex, sans vanity?

BRUNETIERE'S BOOKS

Effort to Buy Them for Harvard Resented.

MARGINALIA IS ILLUMINATING

Development of Writer's Thought May Be Perceived Therein-French Bibliophiles Regard His Books As National Treasures, and Tremble Lest Foreigners Carry Them Off.

The library of the late Ferdinand patiently assembled, ingeniously classi number of the books, interestingly annotated. Brunetiere, it seems, was a lover of beautiful books, elegant bindings, and rare editions. He had the col-stuff as dreams are made of; and our lit-tle life is rounded with a sleep. It is be-cause Brunetiere can gather into a few poignant words the argument of a volume and the position of a whole school and the position of a whole school of thinkers that his annotated library may

Queer Wedding Invitations,

Invitations to weddings in Wales are very businesslike. When the parents of the bride to be bid her friends to the ceremony, they bid them not to come empty-handed. The cards say: "Whatever donations you may be pleased to bestow will be thankfully repaid when ever called for on a similar occasion. The parents of the bride and bridegroom-elect degree that all gifts due to them will be returned to them on the above date and will be thankful for all favors granted."